

a little bit more

by Mary Gross Davis

Every day, I'm growing up a little bit,
a little bit;

Every day, I do what's right, a little bit,
a little bit more.

Every day, I'm growing up a little bit,
a little bit;

Every day, I do what's right, a little bit,
a little bit more.

I use my ears to hear God's Word;
I use my eyes to see the world He made;
I use my hands to help my friends;
That makes me want to shout "Hurray!"
(HURRAY!)

Every day, I'm growing up a little bit,
a little bit;

Every day, I do what's right, a little bit,
a little bit more.

Every day, I'm growing up a little bit, a little bit;

Every day, I do what's right,
a little bit, a little bit more.

I use my ears to hear God's Word;
I use my eyes to see the world He made;
I use my hands to help my friends;
That makes me want to shout "Hurray!"
(HURRAY!)

Every day, I'm growing up a little bit,
a little bit;

Every day, I do what's right, a little bit,
a little bit more.

A little bit, a little bit more.

A little bit, a little bit, a little bit, a little bit more.
